Workshop Description: Please join us for a training that will focus on positive student/staff relationships, as well as PREVENTION and DE-ESCALATION of challenging behavior in the classroom. We will target the following objectives and so much more!

Environmental Considerations: Participants will learn about the impact of having a positive school climate and how to assess the classroom environment.

Building Positive Staff and Student Relationships: Participants will learn why cultivating positive relationships is critical, as well as specific classroom activities to foster relationship building within the classroom.

Antecedent Interventions: Participants will review the ABC's of behavior, learn how to identify common antecedents that could trigger challenging behaviors, and how to tailor interventions to specific antecedents.

Stress Model and De-Escalation Strategies: Participants will review the phases of the stress model, learn about typical staff and student responses in each phase, and identify specific strategies to prevent students from escalating.

Staff Self Control: Participants will understand the importance of maintaining self-control, explore their own triggers, and identify self-control methods that work for them.

Defusing Common Behavior Problems: Participants will learn how to effectively establish limits and respond to off-task, provocative and disrespectful behavior.

Target Audience: Special Education and General Education Staff

Presenters: Susan Scott & Justin Albano
